CEO Message

I'm Daniyal Intisar, the CEO and founder of this transformative e-learning platform. Back in 2020, after proudly earning my bachelor's degree in Electrical Engineering and a silver medal, I stood at a crossroads. Despite my academic achievements, I found myself navigating a job market that was dense and saturated, a place where talent often got lost in the crowd.

I realized that the key to standing out in today's world is not just about traditional qualifications, but about mastering the digital skills that drive innovation and connect us globally. Over the past four years, my journey has been nothing short of extraordinary. This personal transformation inspired me to create NS Training, a platform dedicated to empowering others to achieve their dreams and break free from the constraints of conventional career paths.

My success story is a testament to my company's commitment and vision. I, personally, have achieved over 30 national and international certifications, secured 100+ clientage in the digital marketing field, and proudly run an institute that has seen over 65,000 students enroll in our courses. These milestones are not just numbers; they represent countless lives transformed, dreams realized, and potentials unlocked.
